Steve McDonald really is a man who doesn't learn from his mistakes, isn't he? This week's big rumour is that he's going to propose to girlfriend Tracy Barlow. Yep, that's the Tracy Barlow who sold his baby after convincing the man from the buttie shop that he'd fathered the kid. The same Tracy Barlow who ruined Steve's wedding to Karen by popping in to let him know he was really Amy's dad. And that's the same Tracy Barlow who sadly miscarried Steve's twins, but told the world that his next wife, Becky, had pushed her down the stairs and caused the tragedy.

"Steve McDonald is a stupid man!"

Yep, that's right, the "local nutjob" as he once lovingly referred to her, who Steve married before on a big day where the buffet lasted longer than the union itself. Now, we know men can be stupid (and I very much count myself in that!), but there's stupid and there's Steve McDonald stupid. Good luck, pal. You'll need it!

Eva's baby is born!

Hot
THIS WEEK!

TOYAH GETS HER LITTLE ONE AT LAST - BUT IS IT A DONE DEAL?

It all ends as it started, with
Eva and Toyah
hatching something

Eva holds her baby in her arms – but it won't last long

This is the heartbreaking moment when Eva cradles her newborn baby – before having to say a tearful goodbye and hand the little one over to Toyah!

The secret surrogacy pact struck by the two women suddenly becomes a reality this week, after Eva goes into premature labour while trapped in the bathroom of her hideaway cottage – with Toyah forced to step in as midwife.

“Toyah hears Eva’s screams that the baby is coming – but unfortunately the handle to the bathroom door has fallen off and Eva is locked inside!” explains actress Georgia Taylor, who plays Toyah. “Toyah smashes the hell out of the door because she wants to make sure Eva is okay – and ends up delivering the baby. It took me back to my days on Casualty [in which

“The plan is crazy, but Toyah and Eva can’t back out now”

Georgia played Dr Ruth Winters], as that kind of thing happened all the time!”

The drama unfolds as Eva remains at a secret location in Lymm, so that she can give birth away from cobbles and enable Toyah to pass off her baby as the child she and Peter were meant to receive from their original surrogate, Jacqui. Eva’s family and friends think she is away on a beauty course – while Toyah remains stationed at the Rovers, video-calling Eva so that she can check in on her.

“The plan is crazy, and it doesn’t seem like it’ll ever work – but Toyah and Eva are too far down the line to back out,” sighs Georgia. “What’s interesting is that if Toyah were counselling a friend of hers, she’d strongly advise against it! However, she is so vulnerable and desperate for a child that her rationality has been overruled, and her heart is leading her head.”

INSIDE SCOOP

Toyah heads back to the Street, really believing that her plan has worked

FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

It's through a video session with Eva that Toyah begins to notice that she is unwell, and decides to head over to the cottage. But when teen terror Simon and his pals steal Toyah's car keys, it delays her in getting to Eva, who is already in labour as Toyah arrives.

"There's a real dramatic currency to the moment that Toyah is literally on her knees to receive this baby from Eva," shares Georgia. "As terrified as she is, Toyah knows there is no one else there to help them and she needs to get on with it. Ultimately she is trying to save her child's life."

With Toyah's help, brave Eva gives birth to a little girl and is rushed to hospital – where reality quickly sets in. She is desperate to avoid holding her daughter, to make the handover to Toyah as painless as possible. However, after Toyah leaves the baby and new mum alone, Eva has no choice but to pick up the baby – and clearly feels conflicted about her decision.

"When Toyah leaves the hospital, she is on cloud nine," says Georgia. "At this point she believes the plan is going to work, and everything will be perfect. Toyah is so in love with this baby that she doesn't worry for a second that Eva will go back on the deal."

Eva's misgivings grow as a hospital photographer swings by the ward and asks if she'd like a picture with her daughter. Toyah is relieved when Eva declines – but will her emotions get the better of her as she wrestles with her conscience?

Meanwhile, Toyah is busy spinning Peter a yarn as she tells him that their surrogate – whom he still believes is Jacqui – has gone into labour.

"She comes up with a plan to cover her back," reveals Georgia. "It's so far-fetched that there's a chance Peter won't buy it, but he's overwhelmed and he doesn't have time to think or question it."

Will Peter's delight turn to pain if the truth comes out?

Once some time has passed, Toyah video-calls Peter from the cottage and introduces him to their daughter, whom they name Susie after Peter's late twin sister, Susan. However, when Toyah eventually returns to Weatherfield and introduces the new arrival to the locals, will any of them smell a rat?

"Toyah turns up at the Rovers with Susie, utterly overwhelmed in this little bubble of love, and everyone is thrilled for her," Georgia tells us. "There is a really powerful moment where Peter picks up what he believes to be his child for the first time, and she sees the love in his eyes. In that moment, Toyah absolutely believes that she has made the right decision for the right reasons."

As Peter and Toyah begin a new chapter of their lives together, poor Eva sits quietly alone at the cottage, reflecting on the mammoth choice she has made in giving up her baby. Will she remain loyal to her friend and honour their agreement – or will Eva set off a series of dire consequences by concluding that she has made a terrible mistake?

Laura Jayne Tyler

"Toyah can't lie forever!"

As Aidan meets his daughter, will Toyah's secret be uncovered?

While the smart money is on Eva backtracking on her deal with Toyah, actress Georgia warns us not to discount the idea that her guilt-ridden alter ego will be the one to crack first under the weight of her lie!

The situation is already starting to unravel this week, as sneaky Simon finds an invoice for Eva's rented cottage in Toyah's car – and tells Leanne that he thinks her sister is cheating on Peter!

However, it's a chance meeting with Susie's biological father Aidan – who knows of Eva's pregnancy – that really sets the cat among the pigeons, as he clocks Toyah's awkwardness. As the pressure mounts, can she continue to live a lie?

"I don't know if she can, since things do have a way of coming out," grimaces Georgia. "By accident Toyah has become a deceitful person, but it doesn't come naturally to her. She has a conscience – so there is every chance that Toyah won't be able to contain her guilt forever..."

Joe's terrifying quarry jump!

WILL A DARE FROM NOAH LEAD TO TRAGEDY?

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

Reckless Joe risks his life this week – by jumping off a quarry edge for a dare.

The Tate bad boy goes for broke as he and half-brother Noah try to get to know each other better. Noah is shocked as Joe plunges into the icy water – and when he doesn't resurface, the young lad is terrified that his big brother has perished. Will Joe emerge from the murky depths?

"There's a bit of Joe that wants to impress his younger brother," admits Ned Porteous, who plays Home Farm's new Tate. "You'll also learn in these scenes that Joe has a slight fear of heights, so part of this is him wanting to prove to himself that he can do it."

It's no surprise that Joe's pride plays a big part in his actions – he's driven by trying to prove something to himself and everyone else. Interestingly, he's putting all this aside to try to build a relationship with Noah, but when his brother asks him if they can go to all the places their dad Chris used to take Joe, he hesitates.

"Noah has this idea of the relationship that Joe had with

Joe seeks out his brother and tries to relate to him

Joe takes the plunge in more ways than one

It's just a nice, pure moment, brother to brother."

Unfortunately for Joe and Noah, they are soon embroiled in high drama as Joe accepts Noah's dare and dives off the quarry edge. Whether he'll make it out alive remains to be seen – but it was an experience for Ned and the Dales team.

"It was great – we got to take a whole crew to Chorley, over the Pennines," he tells us. "It's always fun going off somewhere, because it feels a bit like a school trip and everyone is in good spirits. Even though it was freezing, it was still a really good time!"

Kate White

EMMERDALE QUICK-FIRE ROUND!

We ask Ned three burning questions...

Who would you put your money on to win the war between Robert and Joe?
Joe – I'd have to back Joe!

Would you like Joe to win back Debbie, or has he blown it?
Knowing how he really feels about her, it would be sad to think that he'd lose her in the end.

Would you like more Tates to arrive at Home Farm to keep you company?

their dad, but the embarrassing fact is that he didn't have that relationship with his father," says Ned. "He barely knew him – Chris was always too busy to spend time with Joe. So all the cool places they supposedly hung out don't exist."

Sadly, Noah takes Joe's hesitation as a rejection, and speeds off on his bike – and when Joe finally catches up with him, Noah is at the side of a quarry, throwing stones. Approaching cautiously, Joe attempts to bond with him.

"Noah has become a very important part of Joe's life," shares Ned. "He's the only family that Joe has left, and as we know, family means a lot to Joe. So he sees this as a chance to start a relationship with someone from scratch. This is Joe 'behind the curtain', without his planning or money.

Jack sleeps with Mel!

THE RANDY PAIR GET IT ON IN THE MIDDLE OF A ROW...

Mel and Jack get hot and sweaty with each other this week, as their simmering passion finally boils over into lust!

Jack has been hovering around Mel ever since she arrived back in Walford, but even though it's clear that she fancies him too, she's prioritised the welfare of her son Hunter and her new business, rather than think about romance. However, things are about to heat up big time – and it's all thanks to a bust-up in E20...

"Oddly enough, it's Billy Mitchell who inadvertently brings Mel and Jack together," reveals our Albert Square insider. "Yet again, he messes things up at work, causing Mel to have a major go at him. However, her fury is witnessed by Jack, who is stunned by Mel's outburst. Sure, Billy might have stuffed up, but it's not a total disaster – and it is his birthday after all!"

"Jack thinks that Mel needs to cool down a bit – which is quite ironic, given the events that are about to take place!"

Once she's composed herself, Mel feels bad about the way that she's treated Billy, and decides to host a surprise birthday party for him. She even plays matchmaker by inviting his wife Honey along, since she knows that Billy is desperate to get back together with her.

Mel has a go at poor Billy over his work performance

"Mel's intentions are good, but the plan backfires," shares our source. "Honey doesn't want to repair her marriage to Billy, and Billy is hardly impressed either. He's furious about Mel's intervention, and fears it might have made things worse – so he tears a strip off Mel at the party! That doesn't go down well..."

Once again Jack witnesses the fiery exchange, and this time he decides to stick his own oar in. Mel storms off following Billy's outburst, but Jack goes after her to confront her about her interfering ways.

"Jack doesn't really give a monkey's about Billy's feelings – but he does care about Honey's," reasons our spy. "So when he sees that Mel has messed things up for the couple, he tries to persuade her to go and apologise to Honey. However, Mel doesn't take kindly to being told what to do by anyone, and she's certainly not in the mood to take any advice from this guy she still barely knows!"

Jack thinks Mel needs to calm down – which is ironic!"

IS MEL STILL MARRIED?

As Mel has a dalliance with Jack, there's a nagging question that we want to know the answer to: is she still hitched to someone else? A few weeks ago, in the middle of the heist caper, Mel confessed to Sharon that she was the sister-in-law of Ciara Maguire.

"I was married to her brother for a long time," she admitted back in February. "Now I'm trying to get out. Only they're not the kind of family that let you go easy."

Given what we've seen of Ciara and her psychopathic ex-husband Aidan, we can well believe it! But while Mel says she was married, does that imply that she's now divorced? The fact that she said she's 'trying' to get out suggests that it's not necessarily that straightforward.

We've also recently seen her son Hunter leaving voicemails for and sending texts to a mysterious man called Ray, asking to see him. We know Hunter isn't keen on the idea of his mum getting it on with Jack – so can Walford expect Mel's estranged hubby to show up soon?

As the quarrelsome pair trade insults, things start to get a bit more physical – and moments later they're ripping at each other's clothes and in a passionate clinch! As they end up spending the night together, is this the start of the sizzling romance that Jack's been hoping for, or is it just a one-night stand that Mel will regret in the morning?

Laura-Jayne snoops behind the big soap headlines...

Old McDonald is set to return as his son ponders an important question (again)...

JIM BACK – FOR STEVE & TRACY’S WEDDING?

CORONATION STREET

The faint sound of church bells can be heard ringing up north – and in Steve McDonald’s nightmares – as news reaches us that he’s poised to make an honest woman of Tracy Barlow!

Word from the cobbles is that Steve will enter soap history books with wife number seven after he pops the question to Tracy, whom he’s already married and divorced once before...

“In the coming weeks, viewers will see Steve get down on one knee and propose to Tracy, who duly accepts,” whispers our

Corrie source. “It’s potentially the seventh time that he’ll be married, but the writers are still to decide whether they’ll make it down the aisle – as love is never straightforward in soap!”

What we can finally confirm is that Steve’s jailbird father, Jim McDonald, is due to make a return to the Street. Liz’s loose cannon of an ex-husband will be back for a stint later this year, but whether he’ll be donning his best suit and tie for his son’s wedding is anyone’s guess.

“Jim is currently serving the remainder of his prison sentence for armed robbery,” our informant reminds us.

“However, his release date is fast approaching – and if there’s one woman he has never been able to stay away from, it’s his beloved Elizabeth.”

With Liz happily occupied at the local medical centre and Rovers Return – as well as enjoying a flirtation with Steve’s former school teacher, Mike Thornberry – Jim’s reappearance is sure to upset the apple cart. Their relationship has always been volatile, so combine that with the fireworks of potential McDonald-Barlow nuptials, and it’ll be a miracle if Jim isn’t marched back to jail quicker than you can say, “Catch yourself on, Elizabeth”!

Tracy and Steve tied the knot back in 2012

Will Phelan prove himself a ladykiller with wife Eileen?

THE END IS NIGH!

But who will Phelan drag down with him?

Serial killer Phelan will attempt to claim a further victim or two as he plots his revenge on the cobbles – but one way or another, he won't escape justice!

"Phelan has come to the conclusion that he has very little left to lose," chuckles actor Connor McIntyre, who plays the sneering Weatherfield super-villain. "Given his mindset, it's true to say that everybody – even the people you wouldn't expect – need to watch out!"

Viewers have been left to wonder whether Eileen's horrid hubby is the person stalking her, since he took the risky decision to check out of his hideaway B&B. But Connor warns that his alter ego's actions will cost him dearly in the end...

"A man should always know when to leave the party, and it's Phelan's time," declares the star. "Departing Corrie is tinged with sadness for me because I have met some incredible people, and it's been such a pleasure here. But viewers deserve to see the culmination of what's been cooking for five years. Phelan will soon get his just deserts, mark my words!"

AIDAN'S SECRET HELL!

Shayne Ward drops hints about his exit...

Eagle-eyed Corrie fans will have noticed Aidan behaving rather oddly in the past couple of weeks – which is doubly curious, considering that we know actor Shayne Ward is due to take his leave in a top-secret storyline this spring.

"You have to look at everything Aidan has been through," reasons the star, who teased recently that his exit plot would be an 'important' one. "He's a troubled soul who is always trying to prove himself to his dad and his family, but things keep going wrong for him. His relationship didn't go the way he wanted it to and he did cheat, though he came clean in the end. He gave Carla one of his kidneys, so there is love within Aidan. But there's obviously something underlying..."

It's expected that we'll find out exactly what that is next month.

LISA WILL BE BACK!

But has Zak lost her for good?

Emmerdale viewers were in bits recently, as Lisa took the devastating decision to walk out on Zak and flee the village, following his cruel treatment of her. However, Inside Soap is pleased to confirm that she will be back...

"I haven't left the building," confirms actress Jane Cox, who plays her. "Lisa had to get away, because being around Zak wasn't good for her health. He's been vile to her and not supported her at all [after Liv was sent to a young offender institution for spiking her drink with stolen ketamine].

"Aaron has also had a go at Lisa," continues the star. "She feels everyone is against her, and that resulted in another angina attack. She honestly thought she was going to die."

Zak's callous behaviour towards Lisa could be the final straw, seeing as she's already taken him back once after he left her for Joanie Wright. Can she find it in her fragile heart to forgive him again? "Well, that remains to be seen..." warns Jane.

Hmm. We think Zak has a lot of grovelling to do this time!

Lisa has been to hell and back, unsupported by many in the clan

STOP PRESS!

Maybe baby!

Kate and Rana will tie the knot and have a child together – if Corrie star Faye Brookes (Kate) has her way. "It would be quite significant for a lesbian couple to get married and go through that process," ponders the actress.

Sad goodbye

According to Gary Lucy, Hollyoaks fans might want to have their tissues at the ready when Luke leaves the village later this year. "It's going to be devastating," he teases.

Late departure?

Former Neighbours star Ian Smith has admitted that he wishes he'd quit his iconic role as Harold Bishop sooner than he did. "I love the silly old fart, but as an actor you're always in danger of becoming the character you play, and I wanted to get away from that."

Soap SPY...

We were amused by this tongue-in-cheek outburst from Square star Tilly Keeper (Louise), who took her screen love interest Charlie Winter (Hunter) to task on social media recently. It looks as if he mischievously placed a framed photo of himself in Tilly's dressing room, the cheeky beggar. Ha ha, legend!

Troubled Belle sinks back into the depths of despair this week, having started to hear voices in her head again.

The poor girl has previously suffered with psychiatric issues, after being responsible for the death of her friend Gemma Andrews. And although she's been in recovery for a while now, it soon becomes clear she's suffering once more...

"Belle is terrified – the voices in her head are back," sighs our Emmerdale source. "At first she tried to shut them out, as she doesn't want anyone to realise anything's wrong – but her torment becomes totally unbearable. The more she tries to resist, the stronger the voices seem to get, and she's in danger of being completely overwhelmed unless she can get the help she needs."

The perilous situation gets more hazardous when Belle believes that the voices are instructing her to destroy all the alcohol in her brewery barn. As the voices get louder and more insistent, she is eventually tipped over the "Belle just can't think for herself any more," explains our spy. "Unable to bear the mental agony, she submits to what the voices seem to want her to do – but this could just be the start. Who knows what they will ask her to do next?"

Of course, Belle's actions don't go unnoticed for long. # Liv's prison nightmare!

AARON WORRIES THAT SHE'S HITTING THE BOTTLE...

Aaron is concerned about how Liv is coping behind bars this week, after he's alerted to the fact that she may be drinking again!

Life in the youth detention centre hasn't been easy for poor Liv, who's serving a four-month sentence for spiking Lisa's drink with ketamine. She's having issues with the other girls, in particular bully Tasha – who's been trying her best to make Liv's life hell!

But when prison worker Steve catches Tasha mocking Liv and calling her an alcoholic, he clocks that all is not well with the teenager. Liv shrugs it off in her typical tough-girl fashion – though it's clear Tasha and her cronies are getting to her.

Later, Steve approaches Liv and questions her about her drinking, but the lass denies she has any kind of problem. While she may think her fibs are convincing, Steve's been around youngsters long enough to know when he's being lied to!

When Aaron and Robert visit, Liv plasters on a smile, keen to make them believe all is going well. The pair are pleasantly surprised with the way Liv is handling life on the inside, and proud to see her growing up.

Just as they're set to leave, however, Steve goes to the couple with his concerns about Liv's drinking. Aaron's worried to think that his sister is hitting the bottle again, especially given her history with booze.

But with Liv isolated, is there anything he can do to stop her making another huge mistake?

Sharon tries to shaft Max!

PHIL'S MISSUS PLOTS TO GET ONE OVER ON HIS BUSINESS RIVAL...

Phil is ready to hit the roof, and his family bear the brunt...

...while Keanu could lose his livelihood

She stole Aidan's heist from right under his nose, and this week Sharon seems to be carving out a new role as Walford's queen of cunning – as she devises a host of crafty plots! But who's managed to get on her wrong side?

The troubles begin when Keanu has to deal with a bad-mannered Arches customer called Henry. Feeling out of his depth and needing some back-up, the lad asks Sharon for help – but it doesn't go well...

"Henry dislikes dealing with Keanu, who he sees as just a kid," reveals our Albert Square mole. "But he doesn't like Sharon either! He rudely patronises her after she offers her assistance – and you can just imagine how well that goes down with her! She's not one to take casual sexism from anyone, and decides that she's going to teach Henry a lesson.

"With Keanu's help, she hatches a revenge plan – but Phil won't be at all happy when he hears about it!"

Meanwhile, Phil is in a pretty good mood for once, and is looking forward to putting all his energies back into his business. The peace and calm doesn't last long, though, once he realises that the car lot has reopened, and Max Branning is the one running it. Without even pausing for breath, Phil heads over to face down his old rival.

"Phil tries to bribe Max to leave Walford, but Max isn't having any of it," our spy tells us. "He feels he has a perfect right to be there, and he's just trying to get his own life back on track. Phil is fuming because he'd hoped he'd seen the last of Max, but he reluctantly concedes that there's not much he can do about him – at least for the moment. Then again, when has that ever stopped him?"

Phil's day gets even worse after he receives a complaint from Henry about the way he's been treated by Sharon and Keanu at the Arches. So Phil asks Sharon to give him her side of the story

"Phil tries to bribe Max to leave, but he isn't having it"

– and isn't best pleased by what he discovers. "Sharon is forced to fess up," shares our snitch. "And when she goes on to tell her hubby what she and Keanu have done to get their revenge on Henry, Phil is even more horrified!" "To rub salt in the wound, he then discovers that Keanu messed up the garage books while he was away. With everything in such a shambles, he gives Keanu one day to prove his worth – otherwise he's out on his ear!"

Keanu is distraught at the prospect of losing his job, but Sharon hatches yet another plan that she thinks will put everything right again – and it involves using Max Branning as a scapegoat! The question is: can Sharon manage to get back into Phil's good books, save Keanu's job, and get one over on Max all at the same time? She's certain she can do it with her barnstormer of a scheme. But surely it can't be that easy...

Jane's joy... and agony!

SHE RECEIVES NEWS THAT HER NAN HAS PASSED AWAY...

NEIGHBOURS | Channel 5 TUESDAY

Paul and Jane enjoy
reflecting on old times
in Erinsborough...

It's the end of an era
this week, after news reaches Ramsay Street
that local legend Mrs
Mangel has sadly died.

Her death is made even more tragic by the fact that her granddaughter, Jane, is back in Erinsborough trying to retrieve some valuable stamps from her nan's old house. So when Jane finds out that her beloved relative has passed away while she wasn't by her side, the poor woman is distraught...

"Jane is totally devastated, and wracked with guilt that she wasn't there with her nan at the end," sighs Annie Jones, who recently reprised the role of Jane. "It's so heartbreaking for Jane – I bawled my eyes

...but is there something more between Jane and her old boss?

out when I first read the scripts! It's very relatable, as it's something all grandchildren have to go through."

Prior to receiving the shock news, Jane is thoroughly enjoying a good catch-up with her former boss, Paul Robinson – and as sparks fly between the pair, could there be more than just a stroll down memory lane on the cards?

"There's perhaps a slight twinkle – they've known each other for a lifetime, so they see the best in each other," grins Annie. "I'm not sure Jane has any ambitions to become the next Mrs Robinson, though. That would be wife number six for Paul – it sounds a bit risky!"

The jovial atmosphere is shattered once Jane gets a call to say that Mrs Mangel has died, forcing her to cut short her trip to Erinsborough. But before she heads back to the UK to plan her grandmother's funeral, Paul has one final, touching gesture for Jane – as he presents her with the portrait of Mrs Mangel that his own grandmother, Helen Daniels, painted three decades ago.

While it will no doubt be an upsetting moment for long-time Neighbours fans as they say goodbye to one of the show's most iconic characters, Vivean Gray – who played her – sadly passed away in July 2016, aged 92. And Annie has some very fond memories of working with the late star.

"Vivean was such a wonderful actress, and she was hysterically funny," she remembers. "She loved cricket and animals, and was quite the archaeologist – going on digs in Egypt. She was a fascinating woman who, just when you thought that you had her worked out, would surprise you time and time again!"

Sarah Ellis

REMEMBERING MRS MANGEL

The legend still lives on three decades later...

It's been almost 30 years since Nell Mangel last appeared on our screens – so why is she still remembered so fondly by Neighbours fans all around the globe?

Funnily enough, it was a different story back in 1988. Mrs Mangel was one of the first villains to stalk Erinsborough, and her mean-spirited judgement of her fellow residents left viewers up in arms – so much so that actress Vivean Gray decided to quit her role on the soap after just two years!

"I could barely set foot outside my own door without someone screaming abuse at horrid old Mrs Mangel," the star said at the time. "People didn't seem to appreciate it was acting."

Despite her frosty exterior, Mrs Mangel did have some redeeming features. She stepped in to take care of her granddaughter

Jane was taken in by her nan Nell Mangel...

...who wasn't always such a kind person

Jane when the girl's mother – Nell's daughter Amanda – moved to Hong Kong. She also had a real fondness for Bouncer the dog, which revealed a softer side buried deep down. And who could forget that wistful way she looked at Harold Bishop during Scott and Charlene's wedding ceremony?

She may have been gone for nearly 30 years, but the old busybody has still been casting her eye over the locals by way of the infamous portrait of her which hangs in the Lassiters lobby. In fact, Mrs Mangel is so revered among the residents of Ramsay Street that Toadie and Sonya even named their daughter Nell after her!

For someone who was only on our screens for two years, Mrs Mangel left a legacy to last a lifetime. RIP Mrs M – you will be missed!

Angie can't believe that Jude would lie to her so brazenly for so long

Don't do it, Angie!

AS DISASTER STRIKES JUDE, HIS WIFE TURNS TO ADAM...

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

Angie's world is rocked by her hapless hubby Jude this week – pushing her into the arms of sexy solicitor Adam!

Desperate to maintain his big fib that he's a qualified marine biologist – whereas actually he works in the aquarium's gift shop – Jude and his mum Mary concoct a bonkers plot to throw Angie off the scent. But when it all goes wrong, appalled Angie throws herself at Adam, and her marriage looks set to crumble...

"This is Jude's worst nightmare come true," sighs our Weatherfield snitch. "Angie has no idea that he's been lying to her over their entire relationship. How he and Mary think they'll get away with this mad plan is anyone's guess – and it could mean curtains for Jude and Angie's marriage."

The chaos kicks off after Angie shows up at the Marine Life Centre unexpectedly, prompting panicked Jude to set off the fire alarm. As the place is evacuated, he changes out of his gift shop uniform and finds Angie outside – but when he learns that she's there to confront his bullying work colleagues Philippa and Seth, Jude claims that they're coming to dinner to sort things!

After Jude tells his mum what he's done, she devises a typically hare-brained plan to fix the predicament – yet only succeeds in achieving the opposite. Meanwhile, Seth and Philippa witnessed Jude setting off the fire alarm via the marine centre's CCTV – and summarily sack him!

But there's even worse to come back on the cobbles. Once Mary's scheme dissolves into disarray, Jude is left more desperate than ever – and, infuriated by the disastrous turn of events, Angie pours her heart out to Adam.

"Angie really has a lot to learn about the man she married," shares our snoop. "She bonded with Adam while freelancing for his legal practice, and the charming, handsome solicitor is happy to listen as she cries on his shoulder. With the madness of what's happened, Angie needs to talk – and it doesn't hurt that her flirty confidant is so easy on the eye! There's a definite spark between them..."

Following an evening of warm chat with Adam, Angie is forced to return home and face Jude, and the strained atmosphere is unbearable. So when Adam offers her more freelance accountancy work, Angie is quick to accept – but will the pair be tempted to mix business with pleasure?

Kate White

Jude or Adam?

Would Angie be wise to swap lying Jude for seductive solicitor Adam?

ATTRACTION

Handsome Jude is a nice bloke who made a silly mistake. It has to be said that his epic lie has made him more interesting (which, granted, is the most backhanded compliment going).

ATTRACTION

Adam is all kinds of gorgeous. There is, of course, his habitual lying and cheating to take into account. But that's a small price to pay to wake up to that face...

ELIGIBILITY

Jude is a hard worker and must have put in the hours to make enough money to fake a marine biologist's wage. He's also totally committed to Angie and baby George.

ELIGIBILITY

He's a total chancer, but Adam has a few quid, and he'll happily do dodgy deals to rake in even more. He's a proven survivor, so life with him would be far from dull.

FAMILY TIES

Sticking with Jude means a lifetime of Mary, which used to be a good reason for Angie to leave the country. Still, she has to be saving them a fortune in childcare.

FAMILY TIES

Angie would be sharing Sunday roasts with murderer Tracy, attempted murderers Peter and Daniel, and waffling intellectual Ken. Hardly a dream dinner party line-up.

InsideSoap says...

If Angie can get past Jude's whopping lie, things could return to normal. But given that he's a bit dull, and Mary's quite mad, perhaps Angie should escape while she can!

InsideSoap says...

We'd love for Angie to ditch Jude for Adam! He'd break her heart – but not before Mary launched a crackers revenge campaign against both of them...

Adam can't resist Roxy – but he's soon regretting his illicit actions

Adam turns to the dark side!

HE CHEATS ON MAXINE WITH ROXY...

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 MONDAY

Adam proves that he's every bit as ruthless as his dad Glenn this week – when he ends up sleeping with DS Roxy Cassidy!

The Donovan lad has been working with the detective to bring down his gangster father – but after he loses his temper in the pub and punches Darren, Roxy is forced to arrest him! However, rather than taking him to the station, she leads him to a secluded spot where the pair soon find themselves getting hot and heavy...

"They sleep with each other in the back of her car – it's shocking!" exclaims Jimmy Essex, who plays Adam.

"Things have started to get incredibly tense between Adam and Roxy, so Adam immediately regrets his actions. He loves Maxine, and he knows that this could destroy their relationship."

Adam's missus is already beginning to get suspicious about her other half's shady behaviour – his moods are all over the place and he keeps disappearing. Things get worse this week, after Adam experiences flashbacks to a robbery he was involved in with Glenn. That's when the pressure gets too much, and he takes his anger out on Darren – so how much longer can Adam keep this up?

"Adam is really feeling the stress at the moment," admits

Adam is getting better at lying – he's enjoying the thrill of it all...

Jimmy. "He is an honest guy, so all this lying is really catching up with him. That said, I was very surprised at how much Adam enjoyed the buzz of the robbery – he even calls it his best day at work ever! Adam is slipping more and more into the role of Glenn's right-hand man, and he's actually enjoying it."

So could Adam finally be turning to the dark side? It would certainly seem so, as

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON!

Is Adam really a chip off the old block?

Adam's behaviour this week is pretty shocking – but is he really morphing into his dad? Jimmy reckons that his character is far too nice to ever fully follow in Glenn's fiendish footsteps...

"Adam has always been a good guy, and I do think he is still that," ponders the actor. "It's always fun playing the bad guy, although Adam is more complicated than that – yes he is doing bad things, but he's doing them for the right reasons in his mind. I don't think he's got it in him to be as bad as his dad because he cares too much about other people and the consequences of his actions. That said, I'm excited to see how far we can push him – Adam is so far down the rabbit hole now that I think he will stop at nothing to put Glenn away!"

he arrives home from his bunk-up with Roxy cool as a cucumber, and asks Maxine to make their relationship official by putting her wedding ring back on! Lying and cheating may be out of character for the mild-mannered hairdresser, but Jimmy reminds us that Adam is Glenn's son...

"Adam is getting better at lying to everyone around him," points out the star. "There is part of him that is enjoying this way of life and the thrill of it all. And most importantly, he is enjoying finally having a proper relationship with his dad."

Adam only got into his father's business in the first place to gather evidence to help put Glenn away – so is the bloke starting to lose sight of what's important? And could he end up joining his old man behind bars if he carries on down this dark path?

Sarah Ellis

YASMEEN IS ROMANCING GEOFF AND SENDING SALLY DOOLALLY...

Audrey is set to come down to earth with a thud this week, as it transpires that charming hospital DJ Geoff only has eyes for Yasmeen. And if you think that's bad, just wait until Sally realises her neighbour could end up being her mother-in-law!

"Talk about awkward in every way," sighs our cobbles sneak. "Audrey thought her luck was in when she crossed paths with charming Geoff at the hospital – but once he met Yasmeen, he wasted no time moving in on her. While Audrey is telling Rita all about her feelings for him at the Bistro, she has no idea that he's about to meet Yasmeen for a date at the same venue!"

Oblivious to Geoff's duplicity, Audrey insists he join her after she spots him at the eatery – making for an embarrassing scene once Yasmeen turns up. Her mortification prompts her to make a swift exit, and when Audrey notices Geoff looking longingly at his disappearing date, the penny finally drops.

"Yasmeen and Geoff are like a red rag to Sally's bull!"

Rather than kicking off publicly, the dignified salon owner diplomatically suggests that Geoff catch up with Yasmeen, who's thrilled by the gesture. But the pair's delight looks set to be short-lived once feisty Sally realises that her father-in-law is dating her neighbour from hell...

Audrey has no idea that Yasmeen is Geoff's date...

"As if Yasmeen doesn't already get a hard enough time from Sally," sighs our sneak. "The discovery that she and Geoff are an item is a red rag to a bull where Sally is concerned. And there's no way she'll be prepared to tolerate the possibility that her arch-rival could one day be calling the shots as matriarch of the extended Metcalfe family!"

Taking immediate action, furious Sally orders her hubby Tim to invite his father over for dinner so that she can get to work on putting Geoff off his new lady friend. But Sal is left spitting feathers after Geoff rocks up with Yasmeen perched on his arm and clearly revelling in her new fella!

"Sally is utterly outraged – Yasmeen's presence is a proper slap in the face when she's gone to all this trouble," cackles our informant. "While we're yet to know whether Yasmeen has told her date that she's his daughter-in-law's number one enemy, it probably

...and she's forced to maintain a stoic front when she realises the truth

Kim is distraught as she worries about her absent husband

EASTENDERS | BBC1 TUESDAY

Kim: heartbroken and alone!

BUT WILL SHE DISCOVER PHIL'S PART IN VINCENT'S DISAPPEARANCE?

Kim remains frantic this week, desperate for news about her husband Vincent.

She's not laid eyes on her other half since the fateful night he was driven off at high speed by a double-crossing detective – seemingly on Phil's orders – and left staring down the barrel of a gun.

So when Phil hands Kim a pile of cash this week, she's understandably suspicious. But as she wonders whether Phil might know where Vincent is, will she end up discovering the awful truth?

"The night Vincent was kidnapped we witnessed Phil make a call, leaving orders to scare him – but no worse," our Walford spy reminds us. "However, while shocked viewers have been left to assume the worst was done and Vincent met a grisly end, Kim is convinced he's walked out on her – and the poor woman is at her wits' end!"

The last time that Kim saw Vincent, she assured him that whatever trouble he was in, they'd stick together and get through it. Based on this emotional pledge, Vincent no longer intended to grass up Phil and gangster Aidan, and wanted to rebuild his shattered life. But he never returned from delivering that message, so when Kim discovered a note from him suggesting that he was going to leave her, she believed herself abandoned...

"What Kim doesn't realise is that Vincent wrote that note ages ago – not long after he lost The Albert – and thought he'd discarded it," explains our sneak. "But ironically, it almost makes sense to Kim

“Phil wasn't close to Vincent – so why is he so keen to help her out?”

Vincent departed Walford – but his fate remains unclear by Kim's plight. But will his uncharacteristic generosity prompt her to point the finger?

"Kim might be desperate, yet she's still no fool," says our insider. "She knows Phil and Vincent were far from close – so why's Phil so keen to help her out? She's also aware Vincent's no stranger to the dark side, and that Phil's rarely far from trouble. She starts to wonder what's going on..."

Can hard man Phil bat off suspicious Kim's questions – or will his guilty conscience force him to tell the truth?

Allison Jones

Vincent's not the first driven to a terrible fate...

After he was arrested for drug dealing in 2004, Paul Trueman grassed up his gangster boss Andy Hunter to the police – and subsequently signed his own death warrant. Andy ordered Paul's execution, and Paul bid his dad Patrick a tearful farewell. When a cab arrived, Paul asked his driver to make it quick...

A mix-up prompted a similar end for Jake Moon in 2006, after he'd made a fateful alliance with mobster Johnny Allen. When Jake doxxed in Sean Slater, Johnny tried to set his henchman on Sean, but died mid-sentence – leaving his hired killer to lure oblivious Jake into a death trap...

at this point. Prior to vanishing, Vincent had admitted just how dire his predicament was – so it seems credible that he was planning to leave his wife."

While Kim and her daughter Pearl are left to face a grim future without Vincent, the mum is determined to not let down her little girl. And when Phil insists on Kim taking his money, claiming that it's payment for Vincent's car – which he actually stole as recompense after Keanu secretly repaired it – it seems he's been touched

STREET SMARTS

Bravo to Hollyoaks for their special episode about Peri being homeless. I don't like Peri as a character, but I thought the story did a great job of showing what it's really like to live on the streets. I was in tears at the end – and went straight online to donate to a homeless charity.

HOT SON!

I know I should be on Michelle's side in Corrie, and be outraged that Carla has slept with her son Ali – and I do get why Michelle feels it was such a betrayal of trust. But honestly, Ali is just so hot! I really can't blame Carla for not being able to resist him, especially when he's pursuing her all the time.

👤 | Juliette

Carla has now slept with her best pal's fiancé, both her brothers, and her son. That's quite a feat!

LIV A LITTLE

I can't believe that Liv was sent down for spiking Lisa's drink in Emmerdale, when Gabby got away completely scot-free. I know that

Dr Ali was nothing if not thorough when examining his patients

Liv's new barrister was utterly useless after Joe paid off her original one, but surely the judge would realise that Gabby and Liv were equally guilty of this crime? It seems really unfair to punish one and not the other.

👤 | Liam, Brighton

I fear poor Liv is too fragile to cope well with life behind bars.

Pauline and Arthur wouldn't recognise their daughter if they could see her now

'CHELLE OF HER FORMER SELF

Well, Michelle's exit from Walford was a bit of a damp squib, wasn't it? EastEnders completely wasted an iconic character by bringing her back to the Square to pretty much do nothing. I feel sorry for younger viewers who don't remember the original Michelle, and just how dramatic her plots were back in the day.

👤 | Maureen

PIPE DREAM

I felt so sorry for Piper in Neighbours when she found out that Tyler's chair had gone. How could Mark and Aaron do that to her? It was all she had left of her beloved Gertie!

It looked like it needed a good wash! Mind you, so did Tyler...

ZAK HIM OFF!

I don't know how Emmerdale's Zak Dingle could accuse his long-

Zak pondered an excuse for his recent behaviour suffering wife Lisa of breaking up the family when she involved the police over her drugs scare. He didn't seem to put much store by family when he ran off with Joanie.

👉 | Mary, Gainsborough

The way Zak has been treating Lisa recently is atrocious!

SMOOTH CRIMINAL

Why is everyone in Home and Away so angry about Robbo being let out of jail?

Robbo has lost his girlfriend, his family and his sleeves

I don't even get what he's charged with anyway, as Kat's death was hardly his fault. It was just a tragic accident! Everyone should back off and give the poor guy a break.

👉 | Jessica

There is the small matter of him being a hit man – but don't let that trouble you, Jess!

DOC PARTY

What on earth is Ethan playing at in Casualty, befriending Scott Ellison's former girlfriend? That's just asking for trouble! I know he feels guilty over Scott's death, but Leigh-Ann is bound to find out that he left her fella to die. And I imagine there will be hell to pay when she learns the truth!

👉 | Lucas, Plymouth

Maybe Ethan and Leigh-Ann will get together and live happily ever after? Or maybe the hospital will explode and leave them in terrible danger...

KATE SAVES RANA!

We knew that Rana's parents didn't approve of her romance with Kate, but we never dreamed they would try to kidnap her and take her to Pakistan! Luckily, Kate was on the case...

While the way Rana's been treated by her parents is shocking, it's sadly a reality many people still face if they choose to come out. Not everyone is as understanding as Kate's family are, so well done to Corrie for showing such a realistic portrayal of how it can be. Let's hope it will help any viewers who are in similar situations to realise that they're not alone.

👉 | Ellie

I seriously can't believe the gall of Rana's parents! How anyone can behave like that in this day and age is beyond me. If they really loved their daughter, they would want her to be happy – not try to send her on a one-way trip to the other side of the world! It's disgusting behaviour.

I was in tears watching the scenes where Rana's mum tried to bundle her into that taxi and take her away. It's awful to think a mother could treat their child like that, and the look of pure panic on Rana's face when she realised what was happening broke my heart. Bhavna Limbachia was brilliant throughout.

👉 | Rach

But most of you are just glad that Rana and Kate can be together now...

Rana and Kate are so brilliant together, so I'm really happy Kate managed to rescue Rana from her parents. I hope this means they can finally have a romance free of dramas – it's so rare to see a same-sex couple happy in soap.

👉 | Scarlett, London

It's so rare to see any couple happy in soapland!

“Megan just isn’t the unfaithful type!”

As her alter ego snogs Graham and receives a marriage proposal, Gaynor Faye admits that traumatised Megan has got herself in a right pickle...

Megan is in for an unhappy week in the Dales, as she comes to believe that her fella Frank is being unfaithful. She hasn’t forgotten for one moment that Frank humiliated her last year by sleeping with her nemesis Charity – so when he begins acting shiftily, she reckons it’s a case of: once a cheater, always a cheater!

Furious Megan thus decides to get her own back by snogging her new business colleague, Graham – only for innocent, oblivious Frank to get down on one knee and propose to her! But can we blame the mortified woman for acting so recklessly? Not really, muses actress Gaynor Faye, who plays her...

Megan does kind of put two and two together and make five, doesn’t she?

Yes, she does. She reads too much into a scenario after overhearing a conversation, and jumps to the conclusion that Frank is cheating again. And then she goes for the jugular!

And Frank has form, to be fair.

Of course. I think that’s why Megan reacts as strongly as she does. And that’s the problem – once you’ve been cheated on, you’re never going to fully trust that person again, because the foundations of your relationship have been cracked.

The trouble is, Frank’s not actually up to anything dodgy, is he?

No. He’s communicating with Rishi, who’s on a date, via Bluetooth. It’s quite a leap for Megan to assume he’s cheating – but nevertheless she does.

Fostering romance: Megan makes a big mistake by leaning in for a kiss

Merrily we roll along: Frank’s proposal is a bolt from the blue for Megan

Did Megan hope she and Frank were for keeps this time?

She was really hurt by him and Charity, but when Frank got arrested [after Megan and Charity set him up for fraud], Megan was devastated. Frank said he never wanted to see her again, but then it became quite clear that they missed each other, so they gave it another bash. And they’ve been in love since.

What is it about Frank that Megan can’t stay away from?

In the words of Michael Jackson, he’s a bit of a smooth criminal! I think they make a great couple, as neither of them is shy of pulling a fast one. They’re both well-educated and used to the darker side of life.

Convinced Frank is doing the dirty again, Megan takes to his fancy threads with a pair of scissors – as oblivious Frank is merrily preparing to propose! But Megan’s fury leads her to confide in new pal Graham, and one thing soon leads to another...

It must have been a lot of fun filming the scenes where Megan destroys Frank’s clothes!

It was fun and quite cathartic! But the Yorkshire lass in me kept hesitating. I was saying, “You’re sure these clothes came from a charity shop?”! It was a bit tricky with continuity, too, as we shot from different angles. I had to make sure I was cutting the same place each time.

CONTINUED OVER

In her rage, Megan has no idea that Frank is about to ask her to marry him. How would she feel if she knew?

Ah well, she certainly wouldn't ruin his favourite shirt – he'd probably be planning to propose in it! I think she'd be mortified if she knew. She's a woman acting in extreme circumstances – she wouldn't be cutting up somebody's clothes for no reason. So she'd be gutted.

Megan cuts Frank's gear into ribbons, then goes off to meet Graham. She's not thinking straight at this point...

You'll really wish that Megan had just asked Frank what was going on! She's been working with Graham, as she's accepted one of Joe's clients at Take A Vow. Graham's been flirting with Megan, but in a subtle way, so initially she doesn't notice anything.

Charitable works: Frank's dalliance with Megan's foe almost finished them for good

“Graham is a mysterious man, but Megan believes he will keep quiet”

How does she end up kissing him?

Megan confides in Graham about Frank's 'cheating'. He's very kind and flatters her, and things start fizzing between them. It's all very spontaneous and takes her by surprise. She's caught off-guard, it's a snap decision – but yes, she kisses him. She immediately pulls back, but Graham moves in to continue it!

Does Megan regret it immediately?

She instantly feels guilty. And although she finds Graham very attractive, Megan just isn't the unfaithful type. She's thinking, 'What have I done? This is ridiculous!', and rushes out.

Typically, it's soon after this drama that Frank finally explains himself – and gets down on one knee!

I don't think Megan can quite believe what's going on by this point. She's thinking, 'What have I done? Why didn't I just say something to him?'. She's devastated by what's happened.

Does Megan reckon she can keep this little glitch under wraps?

Of course she does! She feels secure in the fact that Graham won't say anything. He's a mysterious man, but when he says he'll keep quiet, she believes him.

But does that mean she can ignore the attraction between them?

I think she'll try hard, but there's definitely something bubbling there. He's a man with a lot to offer, and Megan finds his loyalty and pledge of silence very attractive, too. Andrew Scarborough [Graham] is such a great actor as well, a real pro. He'd been here for six months and I'd never even met him – and then the minute our paths crossed, we were snogging!

Allison Jones

Megan's many men!

She has a choice: go for it with Graham, or fall back in with Frank..

"Oh my goodness..." protests Gaynor, as we ask her which of Megan's men is Mr Right. "Obviously Michael Praed [Frank] would kill me if I said Graham – and Frank and Graham are such different characters!" Sorry, Gaynor, but we're going to have to press you...

Graham

"Graham reminds Megan of her brother Declan – they're cut from the same cloth, so she understands him. She likes the fact that he dresses well and looks after himself.

He's a well-manicured man and Megan's a manicured woman! They would probably have a really intense, passionate, possibly quite dangerous relationship..."

Frank

"...But then on the other hand there's Frank, who's sparky and has a twinkle in his eye. He comes with his ready-made family – and even though she can be cold, Megan adores her family, most of whom she's lost. Frank is great fun, too; they're jokey with one another. So they're a good match!"

“I’m a bit like Halfway – but not as dopey!”

Stolen loot was at the heart of the Walford heist earlier this year, but we can all agree that the real treasure to emerge from the bonkers plot was the introduction of Callum ‘Halfway’ Highway. Square chiefs had clearly found a diamond in the rough with actor Tony Clay, who initially signed up to play the hapless fella for eight weeks before bosses invited him back to be a regular character...

Congrats on your return to EastEnders, Tony! Is it a case of ‘back by popular demand’?

I hope so! I did the first stint, which was mad – I shot Mick on New Year’s Day, so that was one way of announcing myself! On Twitter the response was, “You better not have killed Mick – how dare you!” – it was scary [laughs]! But now people seem to really like Halfway, and I was asked to come back.

When did you realise that Halfway was such a popular character?

I think around Valentine’s Day, after the audience saw that he was a bit of a hapless romantic! There’s usually a bit of dopiness when you’re falling for someone, so I think his relationship with Whitney resonated with people.

Are you like Halfway in real life?

I’m very cool, calm and collected... No, I’m only joking! I suppose I am a little bit like him. He just wants to do good things and feel included. I promise I’m not as dopey as he is, though!

Was it quite daunting joining EastEnders when you did?

Yes and no. I was looking at people that I’d grown up watching, thinking, “That’s Phil Mitchell!” – then I was jumping out the back of a van at Steve [McFadden, who plays him] and all

WALFORD
RETURNEE
TONY CLAY IS BUZZING TO BE BACK ON THE SQUARE...

Whit next?: Halfway’s return is bad news for lovelorn Woody

on his return

those other incredible actors. It was mad, but everyone was so lovely to me that the nerves went away quite quickly.

After helping to bail the Carters out of their predicament with Aidan Maguire, Halfway put his budding romance with Whitney on hold to go back to the Army. This week he makes his long-awaited return – and she’s hoping they can pick up where they left off...

What is it that brings Halfway back to Walford?

I don’t think he’s ever really had a place to call home before, but that is what the Square is to him now. He wants to pursue his relationship with Whitney, plus the Carters make him feel like a part of the family.

What is it like working with the actors who make up the Carters?

They’re like my surrogate EastEnders family! Kellie [Bright, who plays Linda] is such a warm and lovely person, and has really looked out for me. To be fair, everyone has been my mentor since I’ve been on the show. I think people took one look at my mad haircut and thought, ‘We need to look out for him!’

Is that not normally how you would wear your hair then?

No, I had this haircut for Halfway! At first I thought, ‘Oh no, what have I done?’, but I’ve realised it adds character. Now he’s with Whitney, she might be the type of girl to say, ‘Okay, let’s take you to the barbers!’

What is the best reaction you’ve had since joining the show?

I was on the train with my girlfriend when this other girl just looked at me and said, ‘Oh my God – Halfway!’ and stared at me for a bit until I said, ‘Hello – you all right?’. I didn’t know what else to do! Eventually she said, ‘Can I get a selfie’ and I said, ‘Of course!’.

Is it odd for your girlfriend when that sort of thing happens?

She’s not part of the industry, but she gets it. It doesn’t seem to faze her – though I’m sure when we’re out she must be thinking, ‘Why are people looking at us?’. She’s a beautiful girl, so people are more likely looking at her!

The Carters are like my surrogate EastEnders family!

Halfway’s brother Stuart is joining him in Walford. What can you tell us about their relationship?

I think there is a need from Halfway’s side to feel included by his brother. Stuart isn’t as dopey, he’s more clued-up. Ricky [Champ, who plays Stuart] has a lovely energy about him, and the dynamic between us feels great.

Laura-Jayne Tyler

To HAVE and to HOLD!

Whitney has form for leading her men up the aisle before even going on a third date with them – so how would Tony feel if Halfway found himself stood at the altar waiting for his future Mrs Highway in the very near future?

“Of course I’d love to film a soap wedding – it’s up to the writers, and who knows what they have planned!” enthuses the star. “I remember when I was younger watching Ian and Mel get married on Millennium Eve, and it capturing the nation. Even people who don’t watch the show week in, week out tune in to stories like that, just to be in the know. So yeah, Whitney marrying Halfway would be amazing!”

MIND GAMES!

FARRAH BATTLES RYAN TO FIND KIM...

Hollyoaks meets Hannibal Lecter this week, as psychologist Farrah goes head-to-head with serial killer Ryan in an attempt to find her missing girlfriend Kim. We caught up with actress Krupa Pattani, who plays Farrah, and her enthusiasm for this storyline was evident...

"I loved getting to do all the Clarice Starling things!" she admits, referring to the Silence Of The Lambs heroine. "I liked getting into the nuances of Farrah's relationship with Ryan, and how they play off each other. It was fun working with Duncan James [who plays Ryan], too – he's such a pro, and brought a lot to the table."

However, it wasn't all fun and games for Krupa, who admits she is terrified of horror movies – but had to sit through one!

"The director said, 'You've got to watch The Silence Of The Lambs now!', since I've managed to go my entire life without seeing it," confesses the star. "I watched it and loved it. Sometimes I feel like you don't see enough female action heroes, and I really enjoyed that element of Farrah in this situation."

Under pressure to find Kim, Farrah turns to Grace for help. And wouldn't they make a great couple? We're just saying...

I really enjoyed seeing Farrah be an action hero in this situation!

"I'm not sure, but I'd be intrigued to find out!" shares Krupa, wearing her best poker face. "I would like to work more with Tamara Wall [Grace] to see where that's going, and if there is a future there. I think there's chemistry, and it would be very interesting!"

Conversely, as Farrah and Kim find themselves in even more danger at the mercy of Ryan, would the actress like them to have a happy ending together?

"I really would, but then again, I suppose it wouldn't be soap if that happened," laughs Krupa. "I think everything that's gone wrong between them has been external. They haven't messed each other around yet. I still feel like they have a chance, and if they can make a go of it, that would be great."

Life is never that simple in Hollyoaks, of course – and there's certainly going to be a lot of danger for Farrah and Kim to face before the week is out...

DRUNK & disorderly!

Michelle Fox tells us about alter ego Bea's worst-ever day at work...

We've all turned up for work a bit worse for wear at some point – but spare a thought for trainee doctor Bea this week, who's so drunk that she's brought into the ED after a night out on the lash! And as actress Michelle Fox tells us, her alter ego has never been so humiliated in all her life...

How embarrassed is Bea about the state she's in?

On a scale of one to 10, it's an 11! She's afraid of people seeing her like this because she thinks she's superwoman, so this is devastating. She's bashed her head and broken her ankle, and she's been laying out in an alley all night. She's in a bad way.

Bea has clearly been affected by the dressing-down Ethan gave her last episode...

That's hugely affected her. Bea's an excellent doctor, but her confidence has been really knocked – she thinks she's finished at the hospital.

We've seen hints that all is not well with Bea's home life. Are we set to find out more?

Yes, there's an episode coming up where Bea's work and home lives collide in a shocking way. We'll see where Bea has come from, and that will answer a lot of questions people have about her. There's some emotional stuff coming up which was interesting to shoot.

What do viewers make of Bea?

What's nice is that she's polarising – people either love Bea or say that she drives them insane, and that's really the essence of the character. People see her as being quite arrogant, but she has a good heart.

Who have you bonded with most at Casualty?

I'm really good friends with Neet [Mohan, who plays Rash] and Chelsea [Halfpenny, aka Alicia]. But I also have a really lovely friendship with Will Beck [Dylan], which people find unusual! We just have very similar personalities, so it's always a laugh hanging out together.

10 totally true FACTS about... Shayne Ward

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE MAN BEHIND CORONATION STREET'S AIDAN...

1 If you thought the Connors were a large family, you should meet Shayne's real-life clan! He is one of seven children born to his parents, Philomena and Martin.

His siblings are called Mark, Martin, Michael, Lisa, Emma and Leona, and they grew up together in Greater Manchester. "As a kid, I had lots of fun," recalls Shayne. "Coming from a huge family, there were a lot of games like hide-and-seek and bike races. I loved it. My favourite thing to do would be when the seven of us were sat in a row with wallpaper laid out, and all of us drawing. I just wish we'd kept them!"

2 Back in 2011, Shayne revealed he was a big fan of the show My Big Fat Gypsy Wedding.

The reason for his interest was that his parents were Irish travellers, and Shayne grew up with that heritage. "It was more the older generation, like my mum, dad and auntie, who travelled around, but I've always been surrounded by it," he says. "They all watch My Big Fat Gypsy Wedding – it's important that people find it interesting and learn more about these communities."

4 Music played a huge role in Shayne's life from an early age, and he started to sing professionally when he joined the band Destiny. Along with his band mates Tracy Murphy and Tracey Lyle, Shayne would sing covers of songs by Liberty X, Savage Garden, Anastacia, Luther Vandross and ABBA. "They were some of the best days of my life," he remembers fondly. Years later, Tracy and Tracey ended up getting married – and Shayne was their best man.

3 Aidan adores his little sister Kate, and Shayne has a strong bond with one of his siblings in particular – twin Emma.

They were born on 16 October 1984 and have always been tight. "We share similar personalities," declares the actor. "I guess we think alike, too. It's funny when people ask if we look identical. If we did, I don't think she'd walk around with the beard!"

5 Shayne made it to the big time when he won the second series of The X Factor in 2005. It wasn't his first attempt at talent show glory – in 2002, he reached the final 30 contestants in *Popstars: The Rivals, the show that launched mega-band Girls Aloud. However, Shayne fared better three years later when he beat crooner Andy Abraham to take the crown in Simon Cowell's series.

7 When it comes to romance, hunky Shayne is much better behaved than love rat Aidan. He's engaged to ex-Hollyoaks star Sophie Austin (Lindsey Roscoe), who is mum to his daughter Willow. When Shayne proposed to Sophie last Christmas, in front of both their families, Sophie was in her PJs and had her hair tied back with a pair of knickers! "I feel like I've known Sophie for a lifetime," gushes Shayne. "Sophie and Willow complete me."

8 Former lovers Eva and Aidan are only just back on speaking terms, but Shayne has always been close to cast mate Catherine Tyldesley and her partner Tom Pittfield – and performed at the pair's wedding. "I sang Butterfly Kisses by Bob Carlisle," says the actor. "I think it went down well with the guests – I got a standing ovation!"

9 There was a time when Shayne almost became a member of Take That! He was drafted in as a potential replacement for Jason Orange in 2006. Lead singer Gary Barlow wrote about Shayne in autobiography My Take – detailing how the talented star was all lined up before Jason changed his mind and stayed on in the band.

6 When Shayne released his winner's single That's My Goal, he achieved two milestones – securing 2005's Christmas number one and being the third-fastest-selling single of all time. Shayne sold 313,000 copies of his track on the first two days, leaving him just behind Elton John's Candle In the Wind 1997 and Will Young's Evergreen.

10 Despite being a pop star and a soap hunk, Shayne went on the record about his ordeal at the hands of fat shamers online. The first-time dad suffered a torrent of abuse after putting on a few pounds following Willow's birth. "I was 21 when I won The X Factor, so of course my body's going to change," he told Loose Women. "I enjoy my food, and now that I'm a dad as well, I have a more cuddly figure. I'm happy about that for my little girl."

Blast from the past

“Giving birth live on EastEnders is my career highlight so far!”

Danielle Harold has carved out a new niche in horror movies – and her scary moments on Albert Square were great training...

As Walford wild child Lola Pearce, star Danielle Harold played out more drama in four years than most actors do in a lifetime. Lola was a fantastic, feisty character who managed to date half of the Square, have a baby with her gay relative Ben, and take on hard man Phil during her time in the East End. So it came as a massive shock when show bosses announced that Lola was leaving – and for Danielle, it meant embracing life far outside her comfort zone. But the young talent found a new niche in horror films, and she reckons being part of the Mitchell clan was the perfect preparation for scary movies.

“I was terrified when I found out I’d be playing a Mitchell – talk about coming in with a bang!” laughs Danielle, who has worked on films including Fanged Up and Matt Shaw’s Monster. “I was so happy, though, because I’d watched the show since I was little, and the Mitchells were always my favourite family. But even so, I had no idea of how much drama Lola would be involved in.”

Lola arrived in the Square after being tracked down by her paternal grandad Billy. Having missed the chance to be a dad to his son Dan, Billy was determined to be there for Lola – which led to the start of a deep friendship for Danielle.

“I love Perry Fenwick [Billy]!” she enthuses. “It was so lovely to get to know him and to work with him. As Lola and Billy got closer, me and Perry got closer, which made the on-screen relationship even better. I remember the first day I started filming on my first horror film, I was stood in this prison, covered in blood thinking, ‘Where’s Perry when I need him?’. He’s like a dad to me.”

It was Perry who guided Danielle as she faced the biggest challenge of her young career – giving birth on live TV. Lola went into labour as Billy took the Olympic torch through Albert Square in a special live episode. Cora Cross helped deliver baby Lexi, and having screen stalwarts such as Ann Mitchell (Cora) and Perry by her side was just what Danielle needed.

“Without their support, there was no way I could have done that,” grins the actress. “I was terrified when I found out. I got on the phone with Perry and said, ‘I can’t do this, it’s too scary!’. But Ann and Perry got me through it, they were so great – it was amazing to be part of the Olympics, too. In fact, giving birth live on EastEnders is the highlight of my career so far.”

Lola could easily slip back into the show if Danielle was brought back. She has ties to Billy and Phil – and there’s no doubt that Jay still holds a torch for her.

“The connection between them was there from the start

– I think my second scene was with Jamie Borthwick [aka Jay],” muses Danielle. “Lola moved around quite a bit with the boys, and it was hard to keep up with her. I’d think, ‘Who am I supposed to be with this episode?’ But Jay was always there. They’re soulmates!”

Despite leaving in July 2015, Danielle says EastEnders fans still want to talk to her about Lola, and some of them are worryingly behind in her story...

“Some people say to me, ‘I love you in EastEnders!’ and I think, ‘Oh gosh, I’m not sure they know that I’ve left!’” she chuckles. “You’d think it would stop after a few years, but people don’t forget. Maybe it’s because my hair is white-blonde – I don’t blend in!”

HORROR IN SOAPLAND!

Danielle has bumped into other ex-soapies in her new career...

You'd think the worlds of soapland and scary movies would be miles apart – but they're surprisingly not! On Fanged Up, the cast included EastEnders and Corrie star Ian Reddington ('Tricky Dicky' Cole/Vernon Tomlin), on Monster Danielle worked with Tracy Shaw (Corrie's Maxine Peacock) – and on her next film, she'll be joined by John Altman, aka Walford's Nick Cotton.

"Tracy and I didn't have any scenes together, but we all had to congregate on this set, and people were like, 'Ooh, Corrie and EastEnders in one room!'" giggles Danielle. "Tracy is so lovely, as is John Altman, who I'm filming Innocent Candy with this summer. Obviously he's playing a baddy – we'll have to call him 'Nasty John'!"

Despite starring in several scary movies in recent years, Danielle says you're unlikely to find her watching one!

"I'm a wimp and I hate watching horror films," she admits. "But I love making them. I think it helps that I'm so easily scared!"

“What is...?”

MAVOURNEE HAZEL

Neighbours' Piper Willis

...faces your questions!

They ANSWER!

Piper is flying solo for the first time in ages on screen – and her real-life alter ego Mavournee is pleased about that, as she deals with your pressing queries...

“How do you feel about the end of Tyler [aka Tyler and Piper]?”

I'm as devastated as the fans, even though I knew it was coming. I did a few tweets and an Instagram post mentioning that when Travis and I were told the outcome, we were so upset. It's the end of an era for us on a personal level. But I was also a little bit excited for the audience to see Piper without Tyler, because we haven't really had that.

“What will you miss most about working with Travis Burns [Tyler]?”

So many things! I feel like I almost took him for granted. I was on set with Bec [Rebekah Elmaloglou, aka Terese] one day, and it was really hot. Stefan Dennis [Paul] came into the studio and said to Bec, “Your car's parked right in the sun. Give me your keys and I'll move it for you.” And I was just like, I haven't got that person any more. Travis was my buddy.

“Is your sister Chyna an actress as well?”

“You've had a lot of emotional stories. Do you find it easy to cry?”

That's a great question. I've never struggled with it, and I think that's why I've been given these storylines.

Ooh, Burns: The actress really misses her leading man

I'm a very sensitive, emotional person, so it doesn't take a lot to tip me over. It also helps that in the plots where I've had to be emotional, I've worked with people I genuinely love and feel safe around, so I feed off them. It's a joke in the green room at work: “Oh, Mav's crying again!”

“Would you like to see the writers explore Piper's bisexuality?”

Yeah! When I first started on the show, I thought that was something my character was going to explore straight away. And I was excited to portray it – because for our audience, we do have younger people who are unsure and don't want to put themselves into a box or slap on a label. That said, I really want Piper to be single for a bit and to be her own person.

“If you could play another alternate universe spin-off like the time-travel one [Neighbours Vs Time Travel, which went out online last year], what type of character would you like Piper to be?”

Chyna whispers: Could we see Mavournee's sister on stage – or in Neighbours?

Gried Piper: The star finds that blubbing comes easily to her on telly!

It was fun to play a mini-Terese, and Piper had a girlfriend in it, so it was completely different. I'm an active person – I used to play lacrosse – but the other day I realised Piper doesn't have a pair of sneakers, and we've never, ever seen her play a sport or mention exercise. So I don't know, maybe it would be different if she was a bit sporty.

"I love the Insta-stories you do with your sister Chyna. Is she an actress too, and will we be seeing her in anything?"

Chyna was blessed with the ability to sing and dance as well, which I was not. I dance like a spider! But Chyna is more into performing arts, so musical theatre is where she wants to be. You might not see her on screen, but hopefully one day you'll see her on the stage. It would be great to have her on Neighbours, though. They've hinted at Xanthe having a sister, Jessie, so there we go – Chyna could play her!

"Who is someone who's really helped you with your work?"

Scott Major [who played Lucas Fitzgerald] is now a director and one of my favourites, purely because he knows how to talk to actors. He makes everything personal, and talks to me as if Piper is me and I am Piper. And Eve Morey [Sonya] has helped me to switch off from work. She's had some very emotionally draining storylines too, and we're very similar in our acting styles and approaches. So I'm kind of working with her a lot to learn how to not take the job

"What was Travis Burns' wedding like?"

"I saw pictures of you at Travis Burns' wedding [in December last year]. What was his big day like?"

It was such a beautiful day – it was Alan Fletcher [Karl], Matt Wilson [Aaron], Lilly Van der Meer [Xanthe] and me, and we all felt so lucky to be a part of it. The bride, Emma looked so beautiful... but the biggest shock was Travis' hair! He home, and to not let the line between Piper and Mavournee be blurred.

got out of the car, and Matt said to me, "Mav, Mav, turn around". He'd cut all of his hair off! I couldn't believe it. No one knew he was going to do it. He didn't really know he was going to do it until two days before the wedding.

"Who's the biggest joker on set?"

Scott McGregor [aka Mark]! He's just a prankster. When the studios are dark, he likes to hide and jump out to scare people. And he loves stirring the pot – he says the stuff that everyone's thinking. He's like a little boy in a dad's body – his favourite movie is Finding Nemo! He's so unlike his character. When I first started, someone asked me who was the least like his character, and I had to say Scott.

"If you could cast any big celebrity in Neighbours, who would it be?"

...asks reader James Maloney from Swansea

My favourite actor is Idris Elba. He's shaped my style of acting and inspired me so much, so it would be incredible to work with him. But there's also the two leads from [Netflix series] *The End Of The F***ing World*, Jessica Barden and Alex Lawther. Jessica's character Alyssa is similar to Piper, so maybe we could have her as Piper's new best friend!

CORRIE'S NICOLA OPENS UP ABOUT HER MENTAL HEALTH ISSUES...

She maintains a level head these days when playing Weatherfield's stressed Nicola Rubenstein, but actress Nicola Thorp has revealed that she's fought a battle with mental health problems.

After spending the night on Blackpool's streets as part of charity Streetlife's Big Sleepout, the star was talking about the connection between homelessness and mental health when she revealed that she suffered from depression – eventually leading to a nervous breakdown.

"It was about six years ago," explained Nicola. "I was depressed, suffering very badly with anxiety and I started to have suicidal thoughts. It was a very dark place to be in and I felt completely in my own world."

"The more I spoke to people, though, the more I realised my friends have gone through this, my parents have gone through this – everyone is capable of going through and suffering depression. It's something that I think will happen to almost everybody in their lives and the more we talk about it, the more people can stop suffering in silence."

YUMMY MUMMY

Jennie McAlpine (Corrie's Fiz) has not long returned to the Street from the jungle, but she isn't hanging around – as the star and her hubby Chris Farr are expecting another cheeky monkey later this year. Jennie has revealed that their second child is due in October, tweeting: "We've got a bit of news. Our baby boy is going to be a big brother later this year. We can't wait to meet you, precious one." And when she appeared on Lorraine, the actress turned 50 shades of red when the host implied that the baby was conceived shortly after celebrating Jennie's return from I'm A Celebrity... "It's quite quick after, isn't it?" she blushed. "Yeah, a few people have suggested that." Congratulations, guys!

Puppy Love

These soapies have gone barking mad recently – by showcasing pretty portraits of their pooches.

First off is Corrie's Charlie De Melo (Imran) who describes himself as a "proud uncle" since his family dog Toni gave birth to a bundle of puppies. Meanwhile, former cobbles bad boy Chris Harper (aka evil Nathan Curtis) now has a dog for life not just for Easter, after adopting a cute canine called Romey.

In the Dales, Michelle Hardwick has obviously been playing vet Vanessa too long, as the star now has a Cavapoo puppy called Fred. And down south, ex-EastEnders actress Jenna Russell (Michelle Fowler) is also a happy mum to a fluffy hound called Flossie.

Finally, from canines to felines, Hollyoaks' Daisy Wood-Davis (Kim) and Luke Jerdy (Jesse) are celebrating being reunited with their beloved cat, Pearl – when she came home after being missing for two months. What a purr-fect ending.

THE CORRIE ACTRESS REVEALS HER PRIDE AT RANA'S STORY...

Street star Shelley King (Yasmeen) has revealed she can relate to the current story on the cobbles, which sees Yasmeen's granddaughter-in-law Rana confront her sexuality, as she has struggled herself in the past.

"I'm an out gay woman," she says. "But when I was 24, 25, I was in a programme called Angels. What the then producers suggested was that they would make my character gay, but I just wasn't ready. The world was a different world, and I didn't even know how to deal with my own sexuality then."

In the Corrie plot, Yasmeen is sympathetic to Rana's plight, despite her being married to her grandson, Zeedan – and Shelley is proud of the show for highlighting the issues gay Muslims can face.

"One of the reasons that I'm so proud of Corrie is it deals, quite courageously, with some important and vital issues," shares the star. "And people learn to live with them and look at these issues in a different way."

Yasmeen has offered Rana support in her time of need

...while Zeedan checks out!

Meanwhile, Shelley's screen grandson Qasim Akhtar – aka Zeedan – has filmed his last scenes on the show. And judging by his haul of presents in this pic, he's popular with his cast mates.

"Thank you to my Corrie fam for the gifts and the amazing send-off," said the star, whose gifts included a chopping board engraved with Zeedan's name. "To say it's been an honour to have called this place work for four years is an understatement."

PHOTOS: REX/SHUTTERSTOCK, INSTAGRAM/QAS_AKHAR

With Zeedan holding a torch for his ex Rana, it looks as if his exit will be emotional as he somehow comes to terms with the future, but Qasim is embracing what lies ahead.

"And so the next chapter of the book we call life begins," said the actor.

SARA COX FRONTS A NEW SERIES AIMING TO FIND EIGHT LONELY FARMERS THEIR PERFECT MATCHES...

Farmers on the market: Sara and her singletons

Spare a thought for farm workers, who graft long hours and often live miles from the rest of civilisation. Have you ever wondered how tricky it might be for them to meet their perfect partners? This new series tasks farmer's daughter Sara Cox with the challenge of matchmaking eight lonely-hearts, to give them a shot at lasting happiness.

"It's so tough, living and working as a farmer," reckons Sara. "And if you live in the middle of nowhere, it really doesn't leave much time to go out looking for love. So this is a brilliant idea for a series – it would be fantastic to help the singletons on this show find 'the one'."

The eight farmers have each posted dating profiles and videos online to try to attract potential matches who live their lives in the fast lane. However, the rural-dwellers can't leave their lives on the farm, so any would-be suitors have to be prepared to put their wellies on and leave the bright lights of the city behind. Can love conquer all – even when the cows need milking and the sheep need shearing?

"It will be very interesting to see different people being put together romantically," shares Sara. "There are so many people on the hamster wheel doing jobs they don't particularly love, so it could be a great chance for some of them to start a new life in the country."

In a TV world where it's all too common to point and laugh at the eccentrics and misfits, Sara is keen to emphasise that Love In The Countryside is unashamedly a feel-good show. It certainly isn't out to poke fun at anyone.

"Oh no," she says. "The contributors were very brave to go on camera and talk about being single, but I reassured them that this will be a sweet and endearing show – it's not going to be cruel. We genuinely want to find love for them and to follow their adventures. Someone might not be your dream date, but when you spend time with them, you can see past the physical side of things and see what lies beneath. What's really great is that people have applied after seeing the videos."

“THIS SHOW WILL BE SWEET AND ENDEARING – IT WON'T BE CRUEL”

They've seen how rural people talk, move, walk and laugh."

It remains to be seen whether or not any of these romances will go the distance, but these eight farmers have certainly won Sara's heart.

"I've become so emotionally involved with everyone on the show," she grins. "They are all genuinely lovely people."

And if there are wedding bells in the not-too-distant future? Just like Blind Date's Cilla Black, Sara hopes that should things go well, she'll soon need to buy a new hat.

"I envisage some future children being named 'Sara'!" she laughs.

Match of the day: Sara helps the farm workers find romance

Requiem

I've been watching *Spiral on BBC4. I've got hooked on it – it's fantastic! What makes it so watchable are all the interlocking stories. The acting is superb, and it has that wonderful French feel to the whole thing. It's just edge-of-your-seat stuff.

I loved watching Requiem.

Again, it was an experimental thing, but it's a wonderful spooky story. It just grabs you, like one of those books you can't put down after the first couple of pages!

I don't watch any comedy that I'm not in.

No, that's not true – I watched Father Ted, which I was very fond of. And I loved Black Books, with Dylan Moran and Bill Bailey. I loved the slightly surreal, dark quality of it. I like that sort of thing, but it can get too dark – I tried The League of Gentlemen, but that was a bit too much for me!

Doctor Who

I have several favourite films. I love Jimmy Stewart, so It's A Wonderful Life comes on every Christmas. I could just watch it over and over again. There's probably something wrong with me, but I also quite like war films – I thought Saving Private Ryan was stunning. It's about the awful situations that happen in war. Matt Damon is in it, and I also like him in the Bourne series of films. I think those are absolutely brilliant!

I've always wanted to play Doctor Who.

I did a Doctor Who about 100 years ago with Tom Baker, which was one of the happiest jobs I ever did. I'd also like to be on Question Time – it's a great opportunity to shout at the television!

The storylines sound great – particularly Jim going on a date with another Jackie...

Tom Jim on a date is hot stuff!
Simon We all thought, 'I can't imagine a woman that would work for Jim' – but Rosie Cavaliero pulls it off. For a while it really looks as though that relationship is a goer.

The first episode starts with Adam and Jonny

finding their parents Jackie and Martin in the hot tub...

Simon Yes. Scarring.

Tom Robert [Popper, the show's writer] told me he wrote that scene quite a long time ago and he's been trying to work out a way to get it in.

Simon He had to sell it to Tamsin [Greig, aka Jackie] and Paul [Ritter, who plays Martin].

Tom They were apprehensive as they didn't necessarily love the idea of being filmed in a hot tub, but actually it was snowing so it was much worse for us out of the tub than it was for them inside it!

There's a lot of physical prank-playing between the two of you, as always – any injuries this time?

Simon Of course, loads. In the first series, we didn't really know each other, so we sort of held back a bit. But now we hit each other very hard!

Tom It makes it a bit better on camera. But in every series, one will punch the other two per cent harder than they should, and the other one will remember that for next time, so they'll go another two per cent harder. We suffer for our art.

It's been a couple of years since the previous series – is it something you can see carrying on for years?

Simon What I love about it is that Robert finds different ways to be interesting, original and funny within quite a restrictive set-up. He has said he has lots of ideas and could keep writing it, so I think it could definitely go on – but that's up to other people, not us.

Jonny's friend comes round in this series, doesn't he?

Tom Yes, he's depressed because his marriage has broken up, and Dad tries to cheer him up with this weird puppet that he found in the attic. I really enjoyed that.

And there are no 'females' around for the lads?

Simon No, there aren't...

Tom It's weird, that.

What's sort of dinner is on the menu this series?

Tom We had a Chinese this time. Having duck wraps at Dinner gowns: The family enjoy yet another peculiar Friday night nine o'clock in the morning is actually not bad. And we had a crumble crumble.

Simon Without any fruit in it. It was pure crumble.

You both appeared in play The Philanthropist last year – how was working with each other outside of this show?

Tom We spent so much time together that I think if we were going to fall out, we would have then. We clearly get on at some level that we're able to spend so much time together.

Simon That's very sweet.

Tom As sweet as it'll get.

TASK ME ANYTHING!

ALEX HORNE IS BACK WITH A SIXTH SERIES OF THE COMEDY PANEL SHOW...

TASKMASTER | Dave WEDNESDAY

The Bafta-nominated series of barmy challenges returns this week, and this time the tasks set for the contestants will be even more demanding.

"We do try to step it up!" reveals series creator Alex Horne, who is also the show's umpire. "We want something different – a new layer. So I feel a bit of pressure! These five people will be in your living room for the next 10 weeks. You really hope people will get on board with them very quickly, but the chemistry between the contestants is quite unspecific. You want some sort of rivalry, some friendships, and moments of friction."

Each series of Taskmaster brings together five new contestants, none of whom have any idea what they're letting themselves in for. Our five innocents for this series will spend the next few weeks battling each other to be crowned Taskmaster champ. So let's find out more about the hopefuls...

"[BBC Radio 1 DJ] Alice Levine brings a brain – she's highly intelligent," says Alex. "But unfortunately, she's exceptionally bad at physical activity! [People Just Do Nothing star] Asim Chaudhry is very loveable, though he has bad instincts for what might work in any situation. [Actress] Liza Tarbuck has the most unusual brain I've ever seen on Taskmaster. She's very interesting."

The final two contestants for this series are comics Russell Howard and Tim Vine.

"Russell is a little sort of squirrel," reckons Alex. "He has too much energy, and he can't sit still! Tim is the definition a good British eccentric. He's silly but competitive – the perfect Taskmaster contestant."

As ever, the man setting the contestants their challenges is the Taskmaster himself: Greg Davies. We hear he can be a loose cannon once the cameras start rolling...

"He's getting harder to rein in," chuckles Alex. "I really like sitting next to him, but our relationship in the show is getting weirder. His scoring system is getting more frustrating, too – and the logic is as wild as ever!"

Live and let dye

This fascinating history series moves to Norwich for a look at life during Tudor times, when it was Britain's second city.

Professor Alice Roberts stalks the streets – in a style that we now find impossible to take seriously thanks to Cunk on Britain (see Tuesday) – eager to evoke life under the

the first Queen Liz, when Norwich was a global centre for trade (yes, it was a great place to shop even before the big TK Maxx opened in Castle Mall.)

In the 16th century, the city was also famed for the production of red clothing dye. One vital ingredient for the process was human urine, which was collected from giant buckets placed outside the pubs of the city. Present-day visitors to Norwich's Prince of Wales Road at kicking-out time on a Saturday night would probably welcome the return of such facilities, and the sanitary conditions of Tudor times.

In the air tonight

READY OR NOT | BBC1 6.20PM

For some years now, one of our favourite times of the TV week is the "BBC1 Saturday Desperate Family Gameshow of Doom" slot. It's always so full of surprises! You just never know, from one week to the next, what horrifying, cobbled-together Frankenstein's Monster of a concept is going to come lurching out at you next. Tonight, the current holder of this special place in the TV schedule sees Sam and Mark riding their Gameshow Lift, while Crumpet the Talking Dog surprises a passer-by on the streets of Stratford. And if that isn't entertainment, we don't know what is.

THE WOMAN IN WHITE | BBC1 9PM

The white stuff

Wilkie Collins' 1859 "sensation story" is often described as one of the first detective novels, thanks to the way its dashing hero Walter Hartright uses classic sleuthing methods to uncover the vile machinations of Count Fosco. Frankly, we think The Woman in White is the forerunner of the modern TV soap, so feverish is the scheming and lusting of its characters. That soapy feel is really brought to the fore in this adaptation: the casting of former EastEnders Ben Hardy as Walter makes it feel as if befuddled Peter Beale has somehow fallen back through time, but is still trying to find out who killed his sister Lucy.

The real star is Charles Dance as Mr Fairlie – his voice oozes honeyed malice.

DON'T Miss!

Grub's up!

MY YEAR WITH THE TRIBE | BBC2 9PM

Will Millard makes his final visits to the Korowai tribe of Indonesia, as this fascinating series comes to a close. We've already seen that the Korowai's supposedly primitive culture is "in transition" to say the least, given that they're basically putting down their smartphones and picking up spears as soon as the cameras start rolling. However, tonight we get a sense of the hunter-gatherer life that will soon be a fading memory, as the tribe go on a "grub fest". It's a celebration of sago grubs – the larvae of weevils – which are baked on hot stones into a kind of pizza. Perhaps best to get your Domino's order in early tonight.

THE NAKED TRUTH | BBC3 10AM

What is it like to live as an obese person in an increasingly fattist society? Five obese young people talk about their bodies in physical and emotional detail – some with pride and humour, others with shame and anxiety. But this is a revealing documentary in more ways than one – each of the people being interviewed is naked, with the resulting film offering a raw account of their lives.

KKK: THE FIGHT FOR WHITE SUPREMACY | W 9PM

MARVEL'S AGENTS OF SHIELD | E4 9PM

The elite squad of US super-agents returns for another action-packed series, with a final chance to return to their own timeline. However, their actions may turn out to have some deadly consequences...

THE ROYAL WIVES OF WINDSOR | ITV 9PM

The marrying kind

A new bride is poised to enter the British monarchy. Meghan Markle is an American divorcée – and that whirring sound you can hear in the background is Mrs Wallis Simpson busily revolving in her grave.

Any devout Republicans settling in front of the telly tonight – desperate to see a better society rising from the remains of ancient class structures – are better off turning over to Channel 4, where it's all being thrashed out on The Island With Bear Grylls. Here on ITV, it's the splendour of the most fairy-tale royal weddings – followed, of course, by the most spectacular royal divorces.

Historian David Starkey leads the experts in this look at the women who marry into the Windsor family, and what Meghan can expect from life as Mrs Harry Windsor.

This “insider guide to eating out” returns for a new series, offering tips on how we can improve our dining experiences (well, ways not including winning the lottery and paying George Clooney to meet us at Nando's). Tonight, Simon Rimmer meets the team at Starbucks, “who decide what we'll be eating in the future” – coffee and some sort of pastry with chocolate bits in, we presume. Also, we'll find out if anyone is prepared to pay £100 a litre for a new brand of bottled water. And, if so, why they are not safely under psychiatric care?

WESTWORLD | Sky Atlantic 9PM

The android 'hosts' that populate Westworld are rebelling! In fact, they're out to slaughter their cruel masters. "You thought you could do what you wanted to us, because there's no one here to judge you," asserts Dolores. "Well, now no one is here to judge what we will do to you." It's intense stuff – but with eight episodes left, we're betting that there are a lot more twists to come...

JULIET BRAVO | Drama 10AM

Drama goes back to 1980 to revisit the very first episode of the BBC's police series, which initially starred Stephanie Turner as Inspector Jean Darblay. As she begins her new job, Darblay must act quickly when a man takes his daughter hostage.

DON'T TELL THE BRIDE IRELAND | E4 10PM

Tonight's episode concerns kitchen porter Colm, who popped the question to his retail assistant girlfriend Jane while she was changing a dirty nappy! Let's hope that Colm's plans for the big day itself are a little more romantic...

MY F**ING TOURETTE'S FAMILY | Channel 4 9PM

Having a word

Most of the time, it's difficult enough to choose the right thing to say in a given situation – so imagine the embarrassment you might feel if your words were forcibly chosen for you, by someone with no sense of self-control or social propriety.

That, in a simplified sense, is the situation faced by two teenage boys in this documentary – 13-year-old Spencer Davies-Monk and his brother Lewis, nine, who both live with Tourette's Syndrome, and whose uncontrollable "tics" include the shouting of swear words. Spencer describes it as like "your little buddy who's annoying, but a part of you".

We follow the boys and their family as they negotiate the challenges of everyday life with good grace and humour.

DON'T Miss!

CUNK ON BRITAIN | BBC2 10PM

Philomena Cunk – one of the most original thinkers in TV today – brings us the final instalment in her journey up through the history of the United Britain of Great Kingdom. This week, her story reaches the point where olden times end and new times begin, "when the world was changed by four boys from Liverpool: George, Ringo, and their guitarists". From there, it's a thrill ride via the 1966 World Cup, the three-day week, punk, Thatcher and Princess Di; from the spirit of the 2012 Olympics to the spirit of Brexit. As ever, Cunk quizzes a host of top academics, who blink back at her in stunned bemusement.

BRIDGET & EAMON | Gold 10PM

It's the finale of the surreal Irish comedy, but the most bonkers episode has been saved for last. It's time for the church's annual holiday – er, we mean 'pilgrimage' – to Lourdes. There are two free seats on the coach, reserved for the neediest in the community, and Bridget will go to any lengths to get them. Sadly for Eamon, that means being hit over the head with a pan and having his legs broken...

WHO DO YOU THINK YOU ARE? USA | W 9PM

American actor John Stamos is the subject of tonight's edition, and the ex-General Hospital star explores his Greek heritage. During his journey of discovery, he's shocked to learn of a family feud that almost destroyed his grandfather's childhood.

MY FLOATING HOME | More4 9PM

A Kent couple attempt to transform a rusting 90ft cargo hull into a luxury four-bedroom home on the River Medway. The pair are up against it, though, as they only have £300,000 and 16 weeks to complete their project.

HEATHROW: BRITAIN'S BUSIEST AIRPORT | ITV 8PM

Flights of fancy

There are 77,000 people who work at Heathrow Airport – which is, a quick Google search tells us, the same as the population of Guildford. We're not sure if this fact is of much practical help, and we don't intend to add it to our essential party repartee, but there you go.

This returning documentary series follows a gaggle of key

Heathrow staff, in the terminals and out on the blustery airfield, and their battles to keep over 200,000 customers a day moving (that's the population of York, fact fans. Or Swindon.)

New faces this season include Ian, whose boyhood dream of joining the airside operations team has finally come true at the tender age of 50, and Peter, who has to move the country's biggest crane across a "live" runway – which makes for more gripping viewing than it sounds.

Meanwhile, check-in girls Carrie-Anne and Selina are juggling busy love lives and broken baggage belts – with the former hopefully not the cause of the latter.

DON'T Miss!

End of season

BENIDORM | ITV 9PM

Another summer is drawing to a typically undignified close at the Solana Resort, in this final episode of the current series. Of course, half of the fun in watching Benidorm is playing 'spot the guest star', so please allow us to spoil that pleasure in advance by saying that this week Claire Sweeney plays an uppity holiday rep, and former Frankie Goes To Hollywood singer Holly Johnson entertains at Neptune's. However, in a shock twist, Joyce receives news that the resort is up for sale. Does this mean the end for Benidorm the series? No fear – creator Derren Litten is planning for another 10 years!

STATION 19 | Sky Living 10PM

The Grey's Anatomy spin-off set in a Seattle fire station continues tonight, as the Station 19 team is called out to a house fire at JJ's apartment. There's an emotional pay-off to the drama, as Dean risks his life in order to save Seth – but will either of them manage to survive the flames? Elsewhere, the newly arrived Battalion Chief Frankel calls out Jack and Andy on their mistakes, as the pair continue to butt heads with each other.

THE GOLDBERGS | E4 8PM

In this episode, 'Flashy Little Flashdancer' Beverly decides to take up dancing, but she's downhearted by her family's indifference to her new obsession. Elsewhere, Adam's attempts to be cooler than a new classmate go wrong...

BUILDING THE DREAM | More4 9PM

The seventh series of the show which helps people build their dream homes gets under way tonight. Architectural designer Charlie Luxton heads to south London, where he meets self-builders Caroline and Chris – but their plans are derailed...

BRITAIN'S BEST HOME COOK | BBC1 8PM

DON'T Miss!

Cooking up a treat

Ever since losing The Great British Bake Off to Channel 4, the Beeb has been looking for the perfect recipe to replace it in the schedules. Well, this could be the answer, as it looks very much to us like it's Bake Off's savoury cousin.

The queen of the kitchen herself, Mary Berry, heads the judging panel, alongside produce expert Chris Bavin and acclaimed chef Dan Doherty. The trio preside over 10 chefs, who will live together in a shared house. Each week, our chefs will prepare two dishes each, before the weakest cook is eliminated from the competition.

Mary Berry says that the team is "looking for someone who makes the most of our wonderful British ingredients, with variations on the classics". However, they're not looking for anything too fancy.

"We don't want really complicated recipes or too many ingredients because they're not achievable," she insists. Fighting talk! Stick that in your stove and smoke it, MasterChef, and don't let the kitchen doors hit you on the way out.

Delighted in Delhi

PAUL O'GRADY: FOR THE LOVE OF DOGS - INDIA | ITV 8.30PM

The king of canines is in India for his latest series, and this week he's seeking out the doggy delights of Delhi. Paul pays a visit to the Friendicoes rescue centre, which has treated more than 300,000 dogs since first opening in 1979. During his visit to the shelter, Paul meets an adorable pup with sore ears called Toto – an abandoned street dog who's desperately searching for his Dorothy. Paul then gets to know a rather excitable Labrador, who he reckons is the naughtiest dog in Delhi. Quite a claim to fame.

Hell on earth

This ambitious – and gloriously ridiculous – new comedy is filmed entirely on the idyllic beaches of the Seychelles. Marc Wootton is both the writer and star, which likely makes him the smartest man working in television today since he's cunningly arranged to be paid, twice, to take a really lovely holiday. The very definition of 'nice work if you can get it'.

High and Dry is a sort of sitcom version of Lost, with Marc playing sociopathic air steward Brett Sullivan, who takes charge of the survivors of a plane crash and appoints himself "King of the Island". At the beginning, the passengers are just glad to be alive – until they discover they're trapped in the middle of the Indian Ocean with the world's worst human being. Naturally, everyone is desperate to get back to civilisation and their ordinary lives; everyone, that is, except Brett, who is revelling in his status as tinpot dictator and is quite happy to sabotage any escape attempt.

Regional variations

Where would we be without cathedrals? What on earth would we photograph when away on a city break? This week, Tony Robinson sings in praise of Liverpool Cathedral (the big brown Anglican one, not the one that looks like an upturned funnel), designed in the Gothic style by Giles Gilbert Scott. It isn't nearly as old as it looks – it was finished only as recently as 1978 and, unlike the great medieval cathedrals, was built from bricks rather than stone – over six million of them.

MODERN FAMILY | Sky One 8.30PM

When Haley's brainless boss Nicole declares she wants a new product that has all the 'magical' healing properties of peppers, Haley is struck by inspiration. She begs Gloria to sell her salsa business, which as Jay points out, she might as well, as it's "worth less than a bachelor's degree" anyway. It may still be a hard sell, though – Gloria has a lot of experience not selling that sauce...

TOO FAT FOR LOVE | BBC3

Twenty-one-year-old Emma is a 'plus-size' girl who's fed up with the stereotyped views about larger men and women. She sets out to prove that they can enjoy fulfilling love lives, and asks the awkward questions many would rather avoid...

THE VICAR OF DIBLEY | Gold 8.40PM

There's a triple-bill of this sitcom classic tonight, including series two finale 'Love and Marriage', which saw Alice get married. Emma Chambers, who played Alice, sadly died in February, so take this chance to remember her brilliant comic timing.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

RUDOLPH WALKER

IN (Patrick Trueman, EastEnders)

Viewers were worried that Patrick may have joined the current Walford exodus when he headed off to live it up in Trinidad recently. But rest assured, EastEnders has promised Inside Soap that Denise and Kim – with their numerous problems – will have their surrogate father back in Albert Square before too long. Soon

DI BOTCHER

(Jan Jennings, Casualty)

IN Casualty's spring trailer has revealed that a fresh face will be joining the paramedic team, with Jan Jennings (played by veteran television actress Di Botcher) taking up the position of operations officer. And it seems that she'll be taking no prisoners! "I speak as I find," warns Jan to her inferiors Sam and Iain. "Get used to it." May

ZOE BERTRAM

(Fay Brennan, Neighbours)

IN We may have lost Tyler, but the number of Brennans will be boosted when matriarch Fay rocks up for a visit. But what does she bring with her? And what could it mean for Chloe? Next week

GEORGE MASON (Martin 'Ash' Ashford, Home and Away)

OUT Ash is hotfooting it out of Summer Bay after three years of drama and tragedy, including the shock death of his ex Kat Chapman. Star George Mason has described the role as his "dream job", and reckons it was overwhelming to play "a main character on such a big television show". He's off to his native New Zealand to work on the film Daffodils. This year

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

RUN OF A LIFETIME

Actress Davinia Taylor, who played Cindy and Tom's sister Jude Cunningham in Hollyoaks, has spoken out about her experiences with post-natal depression – and why she was running for the mental health charity Mind at the London Marathon. "I was terrified," she explained. "The support I received changed my life completely. I went into a massive deep hole and I couldn't get out of it without professional help."

UNWIN OR LOSE!

Corrie is one viewer fewer these days, as former star Sally Lindsay (Shelley Unwin) has admitted that she no longer watches the soap! "It's difficult watching as it's changed so much," she shared. The actress also commented on the darkness of some of Corrie's plots recently: "People will always moan – it's too violent or not as violent as it should be," she said. "There's obviously a need for it – but you also need comedy."

FRENCH FANCY!

Following his chat with Inside Soap last week, Albert Square's Harry Reid has revealed more about what he thinks his former alter ego Ben Mitchell is up to – and it appears that romance could be on the cards. "Me and the director always said that [Ben] went out to Calais and he's going to come back as Benjamin Michelle with a French boyfriend," laughed the actor. "That would be quite nice, but we'll see."

THEATRE

THE GULF

In an honest and intimate representation of the challenges that all romances endure, The Gulf focuses on two women on a small boat in the Gulf of Mexico – and what makes their relationship tick. With ex-EastEnders actresses Louisa Lytton (Ruby Allen) and Anna Acton (DC Summerhayes), it's on at London's Tristan Bates Theatre till 5 May.

BOX-SET

THE STRIKE SERIES

Every episode of the BBC1 crime drama based on the novels by JK Rowling (under the pseudonym Robert Galbraith) comes in this fab box-set, following private detective Cormoran Strike (Tom Burke) as he examines a series of murders.

BOOK

HALF A WORLD AWAY

by Sue Haasler
Saxophonist Alex and English au pair Nicky fall in love in 1987 East Berlin – but unbeknown to them, low-level Stasi informer Detlef has also fallen hard for Alex, and his passion places all of them in terrible danger.

STAR CHOICE

Hollyoaks' Luke Jerdy (Jesse)

"My girlfriend [Hollyoaks' Daisy Wood-Davis, aka Kim] and I saw A Quiet Place, and it was just fantastic. It was a proper thriller from start to finish. We knew nothing about it since we hadn't seen a trailer or anything, which turned out to be brilliant. I'd highly recommend it!"

BLU-RAY

PITCH PERFECT 3

Now graduated from college, the fabulous Bellas are back for one last curtain call. Beca (Anna Kendrick), Fat Amy (Rebel Wilson) and the rest of the gang get the chance to reunite for a USO tour, as they plan to make sweet music together again.

BOOK

THIS FAMILY OF THINGS

by Alison Jameson
Bird and his sisters have lived in the same isolated community all their lives. When they take in sharp-edged Midge, Bird invites the scorn of his neighbours – but the farmer and the newcomer slowly mend each other...

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

We didn't think much of Ali to begin with, but he grew on us around about the same time he began growing on Carla – like he's been touched by greatness. Well, more than touched, of course.

We think Nicola's rapidly growing baby bump is like a homing beacon for her mad dad Phelan. You know he'll show up when her waters break – or be the reason that they do!

Be still our beating hearts! Do the Dales gang have the best gig in soap, or what? And what a great way to mark the fact that spring has finally sprung!

It amuses us that Paddy is now in a position to give Marlon advice on his love life, when it wasn't toooooo long ago that he was steaming up a Fiat Punto with a woman he'd just met.

BULLSEYE!

While Kate and Rana continue to steal the show in Corrie, Yasmeen wins our vote as the Street's biggest unsung hero. Her response to the girls' affair has been admirable considering her own loyalty to Zeedan – and if it wasn't for Yasmeen's quick thinking and Jensen Button-style driving, poor Rana would never have been seen again. Give Weatherfield's coolest and most accepting granny a medal!

If Linda Carter fancies seeing a glimpse of herself in 20 years' time, she should tune into Emmerdale.

We were intrigued by this enigmatic Walford newcomer – we're calling him Mr Sausage – pitching his business idea. It's a far more believable venture than Weyland & Co was!

See ya then, Michelle Fowler. While Jenna Russell tried her very best, it's fair to say that the decision to recast such an iconic role was a disaster from start to finish. 'Nuff said.

You have to feel for Maria, who is only ever activated as Michelle's reserve best friend when Carla isn't available (or is sleeping with Michelle's son). The look on Maria's weary face says it all!

We can't decide who we love more – drunk Jenny in Corrie, or drunk Sharon in EastEnders. Who boozed it best?

We're all for the door being left open, but Vincent's ambiguous 'Is he or isn't he dead?' ending felt like a real cop-out. It was as if someone couldn't be bothered to finish writing the script.
